Season Kicks Off with Free Family Fun Day on Sept 27

LOS ANGELES, August 6, 2008 — Saturday Scene, the Geffen Playhouse's family-oriented theater series, launches its eighth season with a focus on music, diversity and interactive story-telling.

This year, Saturday Scene is bringing back favorites from past years, including Gwendolyn and the Goodtime Gang and PBS's Steve Songs, as well as presenting new works by award-winning children's theater companies. This includes two performances of Childsplay's multilingual adaptation of the children's book Tomás and the Library Lady, an interactive show by New York's Striking Viking Story Pirates, who use original stories (written by kids) to create hilarious plays featuring live actors and puppets and Darryl Van Leer's acclaimed one-man show Power on Earth.

"Saturday Scenes at the Geffen Playhouse is a wonderful alternative to weekend morning cartoons," said Debra Pasquerette, Geffen Playhouse Education Director. "The interactive performances are enjoyable for kids, parents and grandparents alike. And, in addition to being something that the whole family can enjoy together, it's also a great way to introduce children to the excitement of live theater at a young age."

On September 27, the Saturday Scene season will kick off with a free Family Fun Day open to the whole family. Complimentary food will be served and families will be able to see excerpts from many of the performances expected throughout the year.

Saturday Scene programming is separated into two age specific groups: productions appropriate for children ages two to six and productions enjoyable for children ages six to 12. Saturday Scene subscriptions, which go on sale on August 15, will be offered by age group and are $10 per performance if patrons subscribe to all performances in one age group; tickets are $12 per performance if patrons subscribe to four or more performances in either age group. Subscribers will be admitted into the theater 15 minutes prior to the general public, ensuring the best seats in the house.

Single tickets are $15 for general admission seating. All Saturday Scene performances begin at 11am on the Geffen Playhouse's main stage and are followed by complimentary snacks donated by Gelson's Market.

The Geffen Playhouse 2008-2009 Saturday Scene season currently includes:
